Peter Hawker Joins the CRS Team

St. Paul, MN – CRS announced that industry veteran, Peter Hawker, has joined CRS as a business development director. “Peter’s vast receipt printer, kiosk printer and printer mechanism experience will be invaluable as CRS continues to expand the penetration of SNBC Extraordinary Value™ printers into these and other burgeoning printer markets,” said John Soderquist, CRS Division Manager.

“I am fortunate to be working for CRS and am excited to be part of such an established, dynamic and forward thinking company. The partnership that CRS has created with SNBC is the model for the future,” added Hawker. “SNBC, the largest printer company in China, provides the highest quality products and CRS contributes support in the Americas in such areas as local parts and service, engineering/technical support, customization and logistics. I am confident that SNBC and CRS will lead the printer industry by continuing to develop new products that include superior features, software, capabilities and support,” Hawker continued.
